200309117-1

ABSTRACT

A method of configuring a printing device includes dynamically modifying printing device settings based an identifier in an incoming print job identifying a client submitting the print job.